

Quality & Safety

Doing It Right First Time

Safety has always been our compass, and this quarter we gathered for the Annual QSSEL (Quality, Safety, Security, Environment & Library) Review Board Meeting at the Four Points by Sheraton, JKIA. Guided by the theme "Do It Right First Time," the day was one of reflection, collaboration, and renewed commitment to a safety-first culture.

A highlight of the session was the recognition of our Safety Champions; staff who consistently reported hazards and strengthened our culture of vigilance. Their efforts reaffirm that safety is not the duty of a few, but a responsibility we all share.

The meeting also saw the launch of the 2025/2026 Safety Campaign, emphasizing the importance of strict adherence to Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs). At the launch, our Chairman, Ahmed Jibril, stressed:

"SOPs are not just checklists; they are the foundation of how we work, how we protect lives, and how we deliver excellence."

Environment

Safeguarding Our Skies & Forests

World Environment Day on June 5th saw our team step out of the hangar and into Karura Forest, where we joined Friends of Karura Forest for a river clean-up. With gloves on and sleeves rolled up, staff pulled plastic waste from streams and riverbanks, small but meaningful acts that restore beauty and protect biodiversity.

But our commitment went beyond Nairobi. Our Environmental Officer, Alphine Lemmy, represented 748 Air Services at the Regional Workshop on CORSIA Implementation in Côte d'Ivoire. There, she joined delegates from across Africa and the Caribbean to discuss carbon offsetting and sustainable aviation practices.

Team Spotlight

A Career Takes Flight

This quarter, we proudly celebrated a major milestone: the promotion of Captain Imran Yahya Yusuf from First Officer to Captain on the Caravan fleet (C208B). His journey is a story of dedication, skill, and perseverance. At 748, every achievement by one of us is shared by all of us.

Highlights Innovation, Partnerships & Milestones

De Havilland Conference

Our MD, Moses Mwangi, and Training Manager, Captain Rashid Hussein, represented 748 at the global All Operators Conference in Calgary.

Pratt & Whitney Visit

We welcomed Ms. Courtney Rao, Director of Commercial Programs, strengthening ties with the engine maker that powers our fleet.

Dash 8 Damage Mapping Certification

Our Maintenance team received advanced training from De Havilland, equipping them with essential skills for structural assessments.

10th Humanitarian Aviation Conference

We joined industry peers to address operational challenges and promote safety in humanitarian aviation.

Inspiring the Next Generation

At the Africa Youth Aviation & Aerospace Forum, our Head of QSSEL, Maurice Juma, delivered a keynote that ignited passion for aviation among students.

First Internal C-Check on Q400

We successfully commenced our first in-house C-check on the Dash 8-Q400, marking a new milestone in technical excellence.

748 Cares

Strides for Seniors

On July 11th, the Run 4 Seniors united staff, industry partners, and aviation colleagues at Karura Forest for a day that embodied unity and purpose.

Under the leadership of our MD Moses Mwangi, the event transcended fundraising, it became a celebration of solidarity, wellness, and humanity. Staff from every department rallied together, raising KES 2 million, which 748 Air Services proudly matched shilling-for-shilling, doubling the impact to KES 4 million. These contributions will directly support essential healthcare services and monthly food rations for vulnerable senior citizens.

The momentum extended beyond our organization. With the wider aviation community joining hands, the run achieved an extraordinary milestone, raising over KES 10 million in support of Mama Ibado Charity's senior programs. Every stride taken that day was more than a step forward; it was a stride toward dignity, care, and hope for our elders.
